LASTA FESTIVAL

WED 15TH - SAT 25TH OCTOBER

Now in its fourth year, the nationwide LASTA Festival celebrates exciting theatre and performance made for young people and by young people. The festival is programmed by a group of young curators from across the country, selected through a competitive open call. At Belltable and Lime Tree Theatre, our 2025 curators are performer and theatre maker Eoin Gilmartin from Tipperary, and writer and performer Matthew O'Rourke from Limerick.

This programme represents a year of hard work, skill development and discovery. The pieces featured struck a deep chord with both of us for one reason or another, and we hope that they may do the same for you. It is an honour to bring together such an incredible selection of outstanding performers, artists, and story tellers. Young and old, local or visiting; There is something for everyone in the Belltable and Lime Tree Theatre this October.

- Eoin Gilmartin

Our programme is diverse, literary, and reflective, three qualities of Limerick that I feel make it what it is. We have a great mixture of independent artists and established production companies, along with a range of demographics; we hope to welcome audiences who may not frequent the theatre and give them something to return for. With music, poetry, and love stories, this programme is sure to hold audiences close as autumn ripens.

- Matthew O'Rourke

The following events are part of the wider festival line-up taking place in October 2025 in collaboration with young curators at Backstage Theatre, Dunamais Arts Centre, glór, An Grianán Theatre, and Town Hall Theatre.
